

Mohanad Odeh obtained his PharmD from Jordan University of Science and Technology (2006), Irbid-Jordan and was amongst the first group of PharmD certified graduates in the Middle East and North Africa. He is now working towards a PhD in pharmacy under the supervision of Prof James McElnay and Prof Mike Scott. His primary research focus is on clinical pharmacist led services and medicines management. Research in this area has led to the remodelling of clinical pharmacy services both locally and internationally. As a trainer in personal development skills, alongside working on his PhD, he has designed a module on basic personal development approaches, including aspects of behavioural theory, time management and communication skills, in collaboration with the QUB international postgraduate researcher development team. Before joining QUB, Mohanad worked as a 'District Sales Manager' for Eli Lilly, an international pharmaceutical company. He is the author and intellectual property owner of the publication 'Drugs in Jordan plus Basic Pharmacological Review'.
